Tiuit Boots.—A married friend who went home from his lodge rather late the other evening sat down on the front door step and took off his boots. He remembered that his wife complained of little sleep, and, kind-hearted man that he was, he did not desire to disturb her. But when he opened the bed-room door and knocked over a chair set carefully against it, and heard her soft, sweet voice remarking, "I've always told you, John, that if you wore such tight boots they would hurt your feet," then it occurred to him that perhaps he was not as tall as he had been a short time before. Rev. J. W. Goodlin, Secretary of the Board of Home Missions of the General Synod of the Evah. Lutheran Church, officiated yesterday at all the services in the Eng. Luth. Church. His discourse in the morning was based on Paul's words to the Philippians, "To me to live is Christ." The speaker argued that a life of true religion is the only true life, and beautifully illustrated his arguments by facts from sacred and secular history. In the afternoon Mr. Goodlin greatly interested the immense Sunday School by an address of much merit and an exhibition of idols, sandals, comb and many other articles sent by the children's missionary from the India Mission. The school room was literally crowded. In the evening, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the church was full to crowding, and Rev. Goodlin preached with great earnestness from the words: "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." STARCHING A CUSTOMER.—For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the Heathen Chinee is peculiar. Thus sang Bret Harte of Ah Sin, but our own Wah Lee has claims to a like immortality which should not be overlooked by the poet of the Great West. As every one knows, Wah Lee is the proprietor of a laundry on Market street, between 12th and 14th. The entire force of the establishment consists of Wah Lee and two other Celestials. Yesterday an elderly gentleman stepped into Wah Lee's laundry and asked for his shirt, which he had left to be "done up," and upon receiving the garment was told the price. The former may have satisfied the e.g., but as the result will show the latter did not. In fact, the customer, being economically inclination. John L. Van Pelt.

OLD-Time Steamers.—The Pittsburgh Telegraph says that the first boats that ever run from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati as regular packets were the steamers Busquehanna, Swiftsure and Eveline, in 1842. Occasionally store is robbed or a house entered, when no evidences are visible that a forcible entry was made, and it is not at all un likely that in many of these cases th robberies were the result of carelessness on the part of the inmates of the resi-dences or parties engaged in business in these houses in neglecting to lock up properly.

After the hearing Green took his seat upon a bench which runs along a railing that separates the spectators from the sentence of Mrs. Robinson's Examination.—The examination of Mrs. Robinson upon the charge of killing Pat Quinlan, which occupied the attention of the County Court on Thursday evening last, still remains in status quo. The further examination of the case was continued to an indefinite time, we presume for the purpose of avoiding the crowd and confusion incident thereto which retarded the progress of the hearing on Thursday evening. The time of the court at present is entirely taken up with cases already set for trial, but we suppose Melissa will be brought forth at the earliest opportunity.

LADIES' Seamless Side Lace Shoes jus eceived at L. V. Blond's, 1135 Main street.

This Belknap scandal creates considerable stir; but in a different way, perhaps, Gold Bros, at 1107 Main street, create an equal amount of astonishment in the clothing trade, other dealers puzzling themselves as to how Gold Bros. can sell so cheap. Personal attention to business, cash payments, and liberal advertising, enable Gold Bros. to sell better clothing at less rates than any other dealers. Call at 1107 Main street and see for yourselves.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF THE BRIDGE-FORT HIGH SCHOOL.—Notwithstanding the very inclement weather of Friday evening last, the commodious school half in Bridgeport was insufficient to seat the crowd assembled to witness the closing exercises of the High School, which throughout, without a single exception, were remarkably good. Aliss Ida Todd presided at the organ with artistic skill, displaying fine taste in manipulating the different combinations, and winning gen-eral admiration. The singing of the school, under the direction of Mr. Scho-field, was very good. Committee held a meeting at the State House on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of receiving reports from the subcommittees who have been making preparations for the exhibition at Philadelphia. Various specimens were exhibited. About a dozen manuscript books have been bound, containing specimens in penmanship, mathematics, map-drawing, composition, spelling, etc., by the pupils. There will also be exhibited the school books prescribed by law for the common schools, the books used in the Normal Schools, the books used in the Normal Schools, the reports of the General Superintendents of the State from its formation, and various drawings. It has also been suggested that a large map or chart of West Virginia, with marks showing the location of the school houses, be included in the exhibition.
